The crop top trend has been inching its way across Hollywood midriffs for a couple of seasons – and as Cate Blanchett proves, the look is not just for ingenues comfortable baring a few inches of skin. The 44-year-old Oscar winner took a classy, covered-up approach by wearing a cropped watercolour blouse from Prabal Gurung's pre-fall collection over a matching column gown, revealing just a hint of the elegantly embroidered bodice beneath. H
